

Company Description

Founded over twenty years ago by Buddy Lipsey, Lipsey Mountain Spring Water is the original, premium glass bottled water company serving the Atlanta Metropolitan area. The company's mountain spring water originates from highly-protected springs nestled in the pristine wilderness of the Nantahala National Forest, and in order to protect the water's purity and great taste Lipsey water is delivered in heat-sterilized 19-liter, recyclable Italian glass; a process that cannot be replicated with plastic bottles.

Lipsey is an industry innovator - considered the first bottled water supplier to provide a spill-proof system for convenient cooler installation. Plus, Lipsey currently offers a sub micron filter system which helps prevent ambient contaminants from adulterating the water when placed on the cooler. Lipsey is also served in glass bottles that are 100 percent recyclable and do not require petroleum for manufacturing like plastic bottles.

Lipsey employs the same impeccable standards in customer service. With its exemplary bow-tie catering service metro-Atlanta customers experience a preeminent level of satisfaction as professional and courteous water caterers provide smiles and old fashion service. Lipsey's bow-tie caterers provide full-service with each delivery. Ensuring the water is delivered quickly and efficiently, the professional caterer sets up the water in the customer's room of choice, performs cooler polishing and removes any empty bottles. At Lipsey, clients are the number one priority. There are no term contracts, no minimums, no delivery charges and 100 percent customer satisfaction is guaranteed.

The family-run business has a long-standing history of providing community service in the Atlanta metropolitan area and abroad. Lipsey has been the sole provider of water to the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) since 1992. In addition, current President and co-founder, Joe Lipsey, III has been on the board of the CDC Foundation for ten years and actively supports efforts to provide quality drinking water to nations in Africa to aid disease prevention. The company also founded the Anna B. Lipsey foundation for cancer prevention and yearly presents the Joe Lipsey Sr. Award to two students at Louisiana State University for excellence in environmental studies.

Lipsey's sister company, Lipsey Logistics Worldwide, LLC, is the nation's largest disaster relief provider. Lipsey Logistics Worldwide, LLC provides logistical services designed to drive efficiency for disaster relief and Lipsey Mountain Spring Water specializes in bottled water and other specialized products including packaged ice, and meals-ready-to-eat (MRE's). Lipsey Logistics proudly serves the private sector as well as federal, state and local governments. In 2008, the company supplied over 7.2 million bottles of water and some 3 million pounds of packaged ice to the victims of Hurricane Gustav.
